Carlos wants to be a soldier in the military when he is old enough to join.

Carlos was brought to El Sauzal under very difficult circumstances. His mother was very abusive to him and his siblings. She even kept his sister Marcelina tied to a wall through holes in her ears. Marcelina escaped and led the police to their home, where the children were alone. The police brought them to the hospital to be treated for malnutrition, and then to the orphanage. Carlos is now a wonderfully well-adjusted boy, by the grace of God.
